

EXCITING SUMMER EXPERIENCE!!

This summer you and your family can have the unique opportunity of hosting a student from France through a program developed by Vistas in Education (VIE).

French students are selected for the program based on maturity, adaptability and sensitivity to other cultures. They will be fully covered by VIE's comprehensive insurance plan.

Host families are asked to accept the student as a member of the family, and not as just a guest; introduce the student to the community and encourage activities with other Americans; integrate the student into daily life, from routine outings—Shopping, visiting friends and relatives and local sightseeing—to any special activities they might plan.

The following are a few of the young people who would like to come to Florida this July to make friends with a family and see just what Americans do with their summer. Only problem is, these students don't have a family yet! Won't you share a part of your vacation with one of them? You may make a lifetime friend.

Rozenn

Rozenn has just turned 17 and she likes to swim, bike, skate, go to movies and so much more that you need to read her letter. She also likes cooking. She says her English is good and she would love to have an email from someone soon. Rozenn's father is a file manager in the postal service and her mother is a math teacher.

Roxane

Roxane is from Paris, is 17 years old and loves to dance, go to movies and play tennis or soccer. But, what she really loves is to cook, maybe she will cook a French meal for you? Roxane's parents own and operate a restaurant.

Baptiste

Baptiste is from Paris and is 13 years old. He loves to ride his bike, swim, play video games and tennis. He is really excited to come to Florida; he has been to the U.S. before, but only to New York. Baptiste's parents own and operate a restaurant.

Mathilde

Mathilde is from Bourg La Reine, a suburb of Paris, and is 17 years old. She has visited the United States before, but never the southeast. Mathilde's main interests are art & cinema, fashion and music, but she also enjoys swimming, horseback riding and cooking. Her father is a restaurant owner and her mother is a financial analyst.

For more detailed information: Nancy Dotson: 863-647-3534 or dar4nrd@outlook.com